

CLOSING OF PORTS ILLEGAL SAYS UNCLE SAM

PRESS UNITES IN COMMENDING LATEST U. S. COMMUNICATION

FRANCE INCLUDED IN NOTE TO ENGLAND ON INTERFERENCE WITH SHIPPING

Washington, Nov. 8.—Publication today of the American note to Great Britain, denouncing as "ineffective, illegal and indefensible," the attempted blockade against Germany and Austria, gives notice to the citizens of the United States whose legitimate foreign trade is interfered with by the allies that they should seek redress directly through the diplomatic channels of their own government rather than through prize courts.

This latest note, delivered by Ambassador Page to the British foreign office, is an exhaustive document dealing with England's interference with American trade since the outbreak of the war. In effect, it is a communication also to France, which has followed her ally in the treatment of overseas commerce, as a copy was presented to the French embassy here.

Thirty-five points are treated in the note, and, in conclusion, Secretary Lansing declared that the United States "cannot with complacence suffer further subordination of its rights and interests to the plea that the exceptional geographic position of the enemies of Great Britain require or justify oppressive and illegal practices."

The relations between the United States and Great Britain, he says, might be governed not by expediency but by established rules of international conduct; it is of the highest importance to neutral countries not only of the present day, but of the future that the principles of international right be maintained unimpaired, and the United States unhesitatingly assumes the task of championing the rights of neutrals.

Heretofore Americans whose

NO CURTAILMENT OF RIGHT

In conclusion, after an argument on the law and facts, Secretary Lansing says:

"The United States cannot submit to the curtailment of its neutral rights by measures, which are admittedly retaliatory, and intended to punish the enemies of Great Britain for alleged illegalities on their part. The United States might not be in a position to object to them if its interest and the interests of all neutrals were unaffected by them, but, being affected, it cannot with complacence suffer further subordination of its rights and interests to the plea that the exceptional geographic position of the enemies of Great Britain require or justify oppressive and illegal practices."

The government of the United States, therefore, to impress most earnestly upon His Majesty's government that it must insist that the relations between it and His Majesty's government be governed, not by a policy of expediency, but by those established rules of international conduct upon which Great Britain in the past has held the United States to account when the latter nation was a belligerent engaged in a struggle for national existence. It is of the highest importance to neutrals not only of the present day but of the future that the principles of international right be maintained unimpaired.

"This task of championing the integrity of neutral rights, which have received the sanction of the civilized world against the lawless conduct of belligerents arising out of the bitterness of the great conflict which is now wasting the countries of Europe, the nation in the course of regular prize court proceedings."

PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN.—The note is moderate in tone but lacks nothing in force because of that. It is "definite and strong. It does not threaten and contains no hint of war, but carries warning that there is a limit to patience and tolerance.

GALVESTON, TEX., TRIBUNE.—Americans can find no fault with the note to Great Britain, as to its fairness, justice of its demands or its earnestness. Also it leaves pro-German enthusiasts no grounds on which to accuse the administration of partiality of pro-British sentiment.

BALTIMORE NEWS.—They are very positive expressions, not warranted in the exchanges between two sovereign nations except in the case of absolutely established grievances. Resort to them tells emphatically how much and how unjustifiably we have been made to suffer by England's high handed course.

INDIANAPOLIS NEWS.—The argument of the American secretary of state on all the controversial points seems to us entirely convincing. Mr. Lansing makes it clear that we are not acting for ourselves alone and that we are not inspired merely by commercial motives. The note reflects honor on the administration and on the nation.

BUFFALO TIMES.—The reply of the United States is a strongly stated and wholly comprehensive declaration of the rights of our country as a neutral nation, warning that indefensible practices of belligerents, affecting our shipping, must cease, and an admonition against continuance of blockade methods inadmissible under international law.

NEW YORK EVENING WORLD.—The note to Great Britain is as plain as King's English can make it. Yet it contains no unfriendly or unreasonable words. The British blockade of German ports goes to pieces before the facts. The British government will find it difficult to pick holes in this firm, consistent representation from a friendly nation.

Berlin, Nov. 8.—(Via London)—A determined offensive movement by the Russians near Riga and down along the line of the Dvina river to Dvinsk is reported in today's official statement by German army headquarters. It is declared that the attacks of the Russians, however, were repulsed with heavy losses to the attacking forces in some sectors.

Berlin, Nov. 8.—(Via London)—The Serbian town of Krujica, off the railroad about fifty miles northwest of Nish, has been occupied by German troops.

London, Nov. 8.—The fall of Nish has united solidly the main Bulgarian forces and the Austro-German armies advancing from the north. Hitherto the communications consisted merely of tentative reaching out of advance guards.

Bulgarians and their allies now hold considerably more than half of Serbia, and command the Nish railway, which has been one of the chief objectives of their campaign.

From Nish the Bulgarian line now runs north in a slight curve, encircling the Morava river, to Krujir, where it joins the main Austro-German forces. From that point the invaders' line turns at (Continued On Page Six)

Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—Edward Hurst, of New Philadelphia, newly appointed Democratic member of the state liquor licensing board, took office today succeeding Mr. Clendenning. Mr. Hurst said he believes in strict enforcement of all liquor laws and will make that his policy as a member of the state board. He explained that fundamentally he believes in prohibition of liquor traffic, but in strict regulation while it exists.

Efforts were made at these conferences, it was said, to find a candidate for the United States senatorial nomination to succeed Senator Pomerene next year, who can receive the united support of Republican leaders.

Political observers pointed out as significant the fact that Chas. P. Dick, of Akron, an avowed candidate for the senatorial nomination, was not expected here today.

Mr. Burton after his talk with Governor Willis said:

"I am much gratified, of course, at Mr. Willis' determination to run again for governor."

He declined to say definitely whether he would announce himself as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination until after today's parley with leaders of the party. "The position of presidency of the United States is too big and too dignified to be sought in as positive a manner as other offices," he explained.

Mr. Burton admitted that a multitude of his friends have importuned him to go after presidential honors, and that he was pleased at their attitude. He refused to give the substance of his talk with the governor other than to admit they had discussed plans for complete party harmony, and incidentally presidential possibilities."

Mr. Burton stated emphatically he was not here to "make deals for support" with any one. "I am not going to say to any person 'I'll help you if you'll help me,'" he added.

FIRE ON BIG FRENCH LINER

Billy Butt-In Times Weatherman

New York, Nov. 8.—The French line steamship Rochambeau has a fire in the reserve coal bunker, according to a message received at the French line today. The message from the captain stated that the Rochambeau is not in danger, but has turned toward Halifax and that the fire is being fought with all facilities. The message received at the French line here read:

"Fire in reserve coal bunker amidships. Fighting fire and have turned toward Halifax. Hope to put it out. Am in no danger at all."

The Rochambeau sailed from this port for Bordeaux last Saturday afternoon with 175 passengers in the cabins and 250 in the steerage. She carried a full cargo of general merchandise. Her captain is M. Juhana. Her first cabin passenger lists contains French names almost exclusively.

MAYOR SERVES WARNING
HE'S STILL ON THE JOB; HANDS OUT MANY FINES

The mayor in police court Monday said he had observed more drunken men in Portsmouth than in the past week than at any single similar period in the past two years. He said "It is plain to be observed that certain undesirables already are preparing to return to Portsmouth and get into action again. Doubtless they were pre-election promises that they need not much longer heed the policy of the present administration, but so long as I am the chief executive of the city all offenders will be prosecuted and punished as vigorously as ever."

Cases disposed of before the opening of court were those of men giving the names of George Graf, James M. Herbert and Vivian Bayless, who were fined $5 each for drunkenness. The court announced that Bayless was on the blacklist and ordered the arrest of the two men who furnished him with liquor.

Ella Davis, who occupies an alimony house near Sixth and Washington streets pleaded it was her first time to be caught. "All things have a beginning and this will have a short ending," remarked the court as he fined her $25 and costs for keeping a disorderly house. Miss Oma Hunt who was caught in the raid, was fined $10 and ordered to return to Kentucky. Two young men giving the names of Jim Jones and T. L. Smith, who fell into the dragnet, were fined $10 each.

It developed that the fight between Joe Allen and Jim George was simply a clash between two men both of whom were under the influence of liquor and that Allen was really the aggressor. He was fined $25 and costs while George was dismissed.

Tilden Skaggs, who claimed he was justified in assaulting his wife because she got gay with him after he had first settled the grocery and rent bills Saturday night and expressed a preference for another man besides calling him a vile name, was fined $25 and costs.

Anna Neighbors was fined $50 for alleged keeping a disorderly house at Thirteenth and Railroad. Elizabeth Ira, Viola Wallace, Ike Call and John Dee were names given by those caught in her home late Saturday night and they were fined $5 each. Noah Holt, who is the Ira woman's lover, has not yet been apprehended.

Wiley Bower and Louis Kralz were names given by two young men arrested for fighting at Distel's Crystal Palace bowling alley. They drew $20 each. William Ferguson, colored, was fined $10 in the rear of the Bruce Manufacturing Company's office, flooding the grounds, but aside from washing a big hole in the yard, did no particular damage. The main had not yet been connected up with the Bruce Company's service and the operation of the plant therefore was not affected Monday. The break was not located by Director H. W. Gergens, of the public service department until about 2 o'clock Monday morning.

PRESSURE REDUCED

An "L" in the 5-inch water main down West Avenue, New Boston, blew out shortly after 11 o'clock Sunday night, and although the water works was pumping at a 6,000,000 gallon capacity, the pressure was reduced to 30 pounds by the accident.

The blow-out occurred in the rear back of the Bruce Manufacturing Company's office, flooding the grounds, but aside from washing a big hole in the yard, did no particular damage. The main had not yet been connected up with the Bruce Company's service and the operation of the plant therefore was not affected Monday. The break was not located by Director H. W. Gergens, of the public service department until about 2 o'clock Monday morning.

Goes After New Cars

David Stahler, local agent for the Roe automobile, left Monday afternoon for the Roe factory at Lansing, Michigan, to secure three touring cars for the local agency. He was accompanied by Albert Dunn, who will return with him in one of the machines.

Mr. Skelton Will Resign

Asriel Skelton, city solicitor-elect, who is solicitor of the village of New Boston at present, will resign that office when he assumes his new office January 1st next.

Serious Charge

Robert Mitchell of the Chillicothe Pike, was brought before Squire John W. Byron Monday morning by Henry Benner, constable of Clay township, who charged him with wife beating. He is alleged to have cruelly mistreated his wife Saturday evening. He pleaded guilty and was bound over to probate court in the sum of $300 bond. He was unable to furnish bond and was taken to jail.

Mitchell has been arrested before on a similar offense.

Mrs. Henry Becker is slowly recovering at the Grant Hospital in Columbus from the effects of an operation which she underwent there last Monday. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Donaldson, brother, Charles Donaldson, and two children, Fred and Margaret Becker, left Saturday for Columbus and remained with Mrs. Becker over Sunday.

Splendid Sermon By Rev. Chas. Chandler

Rev. Charles Chandler, the new pastor of Bigelow M. E. church, was greeted by the largest congregation during his local pastorate Sunday evening when he began his series of four special sermons on the subject, "Open Air Religion."

His first sermon was largely introductory of the three that will follow in as many successive Sunday evenings, but he took time to thoroughly contrast the religion of Christ with Buddhism to emphasize the big thought in his special series.

Next Sunday evening Dr. Chandler's subject will be: "What Does God Require of a Man?"

Christianity, compared to the religion of Buddha, was like coming out of a sick room into the pure, open air. He contrasted the followers of the two religions as to their conception of God; he compared the Christian idea of the supremacy of mankind to the Buddhist dragon delusion in China, referring also to the Buddhist belief in the transmigration of souls.

The announcement that former U. S. Senator Burton and Governor Willis had reached an understanding and would confer today with the idea of issuing a statement of their joint plan, by which Burton is to get the Ohio delegation for the presidency and Willis is to run again for governor, will be received with mixed feelings by Republicans of the state. They may find room to enthuse over Burton, but none whatever over Willis. The latter has made himself so objectionable to many members of his own party that it would seem to be almost a miracle were he to be re-elected. His administration has been a series of blunders from the day he stepped into office, and he has alienated members of his own party by his extraordinary disposal of patronage, he having persistently ignored the party organizations and gone outside for his advisors and appointees. In view of the dissatisfaction it would not be surprising were opposition to develop to Willis' re-nomination, although this is hardly expected, as politicians figure that the man who beat Willis at the primary would be subjected to the revenge of Willis' friends at the polls. If they are to be beaten they figure, Willis might as well take it as the next man.

On the whole, the intention of Willis to run again will mean a lively battle in Ohio next fall with the chances in favor of the Democratic nominee. As the rock-ribbed Cincinnati Commercial Tribune put it recently, "Willis is expected to run like a man to a post."

As for Ex-Senator Burton, he is a big man, of broad attainments and experience in governmental affairs. He is big enough to command the attention and respect of the country and with a solid delegation from Ohio his chances for capturing the Republican nomination for president are exceptionally good.

FAVORABLE FAILURE FEATURES

(From Bradstreet's Journal)

Business was active in October, and bank clearings, export trade and iron production and demand broke all records. With greater activity there naturally came a little increase of failures, but comparisons with last year are better, and it seems evident that the turn of the tide witnessed in September failure comparisons has been maintained and even increased. Decreases in failures from a year ago are no longer confined to New York but are noted in other cities and states, and in fact, the October showing in the middle states, the northwest, far west and south is better than a year ago as regards number of failures, while liabilities are smaller than a year ago in every group except the west, which returns the only really unfavorable showing in the west, which returns the only really unfavorable showing made by any group as compared with October last year.

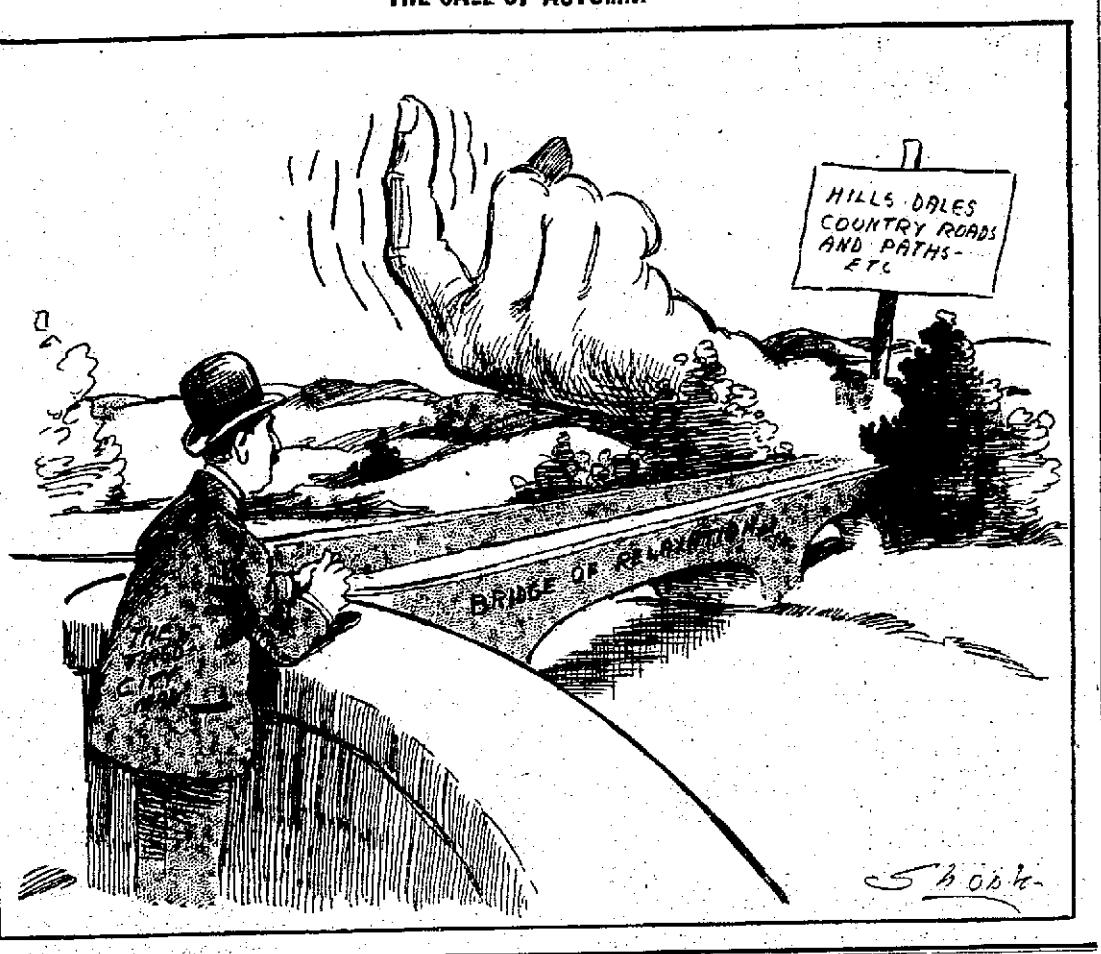

There were 1,354 failures reported to Bradstreet's Journal in October, an increase of 6.8 per cent over September, but a decrease of 6.3 per cent from October, 1914, while compared with October, 1913, there is an increase shown of 8 per cent. It is in liabilities, however, that October business troubles make their best showing, the liabilities for the month just closed being only $16,946,470, an increase of 28 per cent over September, it is true, but 28 per cent smaller than in October last year and 20 per cent, less than in October, 1913, while only 24 per cent larger than in October, 1912, in some respects the best month witnessed in the country's history as regards business volume. It is interesting to note in connection with the comparisons of past years that October, 1907, eight years ago, saw liabilities of failing concerns of $172,675,890, the greatest liabilities ever reported in any month in the country's history.

REMEMBER THE ORPHANS.

This year, when nuts are so plentiful in this county, it has been suggested to us that boys and girls living in the vicinity of walnut and hickory nut and chestnut trees have an opportunity to earn the grateful remembrance of a lot of other little boys and girls who are not so fortunate in life as they. We refer to the orphans at the Children's Home. There are sixty of them and they enjoy eating nuts as much as any one. So why cannot the boys and girls out in the country, out of their plentiful store, spare a few nuts for the less fortunate children in the Orphans' Home? We hope that there will be generous response. If there be any one who wants to donate nuts to the Home children, The Times will see to it that they get the nuts, if the donors will only let us know.

We feel this way about the coming report in regard to the recent board of county commissioners and recent county auditor. If these gentlemen have transgressed the law, have not conducted their offices in compliance with law, the people are entitled to the information. If they have done what is right, it is due them that they be exonerated, as there has been a great deal of talk in which names have been mentioned in the most indiscriminate manner. When it comes to not doing things in a legal manner, there should be no question of politics but the ones who failed in their obligations should be exposed.

One of the small pleasures of our life is to read the stock market every day as soon as the carbon copy of the excellent Associated Press report comes to our desk, figure out just how much money we would have had if we had possessed the money to back our judgment in buying C. & O. stock when it was 32, and then proceed to spend our profits with the most reckless abandon.

THE VENOM, "THEY SAY."

A young wife and mother, living at Western Springs, Ill., recently committed suicide. The coroner's jury, after investigation, returned a verdict that the woman was "killed by idle gossip." The venom, "they say," had done its work effectively, as it always does, and had killed a woman who could not stand the rumors that came to her ears concerning things that should not have interested the public. Facts perhaps had been magnified and distorted until they bore no resemblance to the original, or else lies were made out of whole cloth and bandied about from gossiping mouth to mouth, growing with each repetition, until the object of the slanders in desperation sought to escape by the only avenue that appeared open to her.

Scandal and slander play a too important part in the affairs of life, and while laws are provided for redress, still they fail in their purpose, for many people would rather suffer in silence and strive to live down the effect of a lie than secure vindication with its attendant publicity by an action at law. The shrinking, sensitive individual will go through life bleeding inwardly for years, so to say, because of slander's wounds or else escape by the open door to the beyond. The time may come when the gossiper will be treated as he or she merits, when the opening sentence, "Have you heard about—" will send the speaker to Coventry and bar him or her from honest home.—Pittsburgh Sun.

Six hundred majority in a great state like Kentucky is not much for a candidate for governor, but then it is enough to give Stanley the right to occupy the executive mansion and draw the salary as governor for the next four years. However, we can imagine the feelings of Col. Morrow, his defeated opponent. He will doubtless be figuring the rest of his life as to just where he could have gotten the few votes needed to have insured his election.

And now they say that our new state board of agriculture gave out 50,000 passes to the recent state fair, and that most of them went indiscriminately to politicians. Also that bands were hired by the wholesale at figures that approximated about $12 per hour per man. Four agricultural papers received large subsidies, while Columbus newspaper men who said pretty things about the new board got $250 for it. All of which makes it apparent that the Agricultural Decentralizer should also have been included in the list of Willis' bills submitted to the people.

Attention has been called by a number of people to the growing habit of small boys to run into the street and perch on behind automobiles. It is a most dangerous custom and unless it is broken up we fear that some boy is going to get badly hurt. He might fall from the machine, he might get run over as he darts out or he might get in the path of another machine as he seeks to get off the automobile. Parents should caution their children against the habit and police authorities should also take a hand when cases come to their attention.

We do not know whether or not John Zeune was extravagant in his office, as is charged by his Republican friends, but we do know that John was mighty busy on the job. Thus in 1914 he inspected and sealed 4,733 weights and measures, repaired 91 and condemned 402. He also inspected 3,000 berry boxes, of which number he condemned 2,000 as not being up to standard, and also inspected 1,425 milk bottles. That was a pretty good year's work, you must admit.

And now the United States Steel Company feels these Democratic times so keenly that it has announced its intention of building extensive additions to its plants about Pittsburgh.

And next we suppose that there will be a get-together meeting of local Republican statesmen to see who shall go as delegates to the next national party convention, from the Sixth district, to help along the Burton candidacy for president. Strictly in the interests of harmony we suggest the names of Charles E. Hard and Henry T. Bannon as the delegates, while the alternates can go to some other counties.

When you go into an election as a candidate the only thing to do is to be honest with yourself and the voters, tell them what they ought to know or want to know about where you stand on issues of moment, and then abide by the result. If you win be happy, if you lose be game and face the future with a smile. It all comes and goes in a life-time.

Some irresponsible soul once gave utterance to the saying, "If drinking interferes with business give up business," and the allies seem now to be saying to Greece, "if your king doesn't like us here get another king."—Hartford Courant.

NEW-YORK DAY-BY-DAY.
O. O. MCINTYRE.

New York, Nov. 8.—They have its age. The ear looks pretty good on bright days and to protect himself against loss in the event that some near-sighted person parlored it, Merwin had $2,000 theft insurance on it.

The other day he had old iron-sides out for a spin and dropped in to call on his old friend, Chas. B. Towns. His call ended, he invited Mr. Towns out for a walk. They went to the street but the auto was nowhere to be seen.

"Ah, ha!" said the writer with a chuckle, "some jolly old thief has swiped my ear."

"Harr! luck, old man," was the rejoinder.

"I don't mind at all," said Merwin and whistling a popular tune he started off for his club to spread the glad news. As he approached the club he stopped suddenly. There at the curb was his car.

Getting a Fit In Boots
One afternoon in the trenches an Irish soldier discovered that the man on his right was wearing a beautiful pair of boots.

"How did you manage to get hold of them?" he asked, enviously. "A present from an officer, I suppose."

The Englishman smiled.

"I stole out of the trench last night," he answered, in a whisper, "and I found the boots on a German I killed."

The Irishman became thoughtful and that night he disappeared.

Early the next morning he staggered back into the trench carrying a pair of boots. Asking for his friend he whispered bitterly to him:

"I've had the hardest job of my life. Had to kill fifty Germans before I found a pair of boots to fit me."—Strand Magazine.

Closing Of Ports

(Continued From Page One) full search of the records "shows conclusively that there were no instances when vessels were brought into port for search prior to instituting prize court proceedings," and that captures were not made upon other grounds than evidence found on the ship under investigation and not upon circumstances ascertained from external sources." It is here that Secretary Lansing appends a copy of the instructions issued to American naval officers on August 18, 1862.

(6). In answer to the British contention that conditions relating to the size and seaworthiness of modern carriers justify bringing vessels into port, there is cited the report of a board of United States naval experts, just made, in which it is declared, that it is not necessary to remove "every package of a ship's cargo" to establish the character and nature of her trade, that the facilities for boarding and inspection of modern ships, are in fact greater than in former times, and that to permit ships to be taken into port "would be a direct aid to the belligerents concerned in that it would release a belligerent vessel overhauling the neutral from its duty of search and set it free for further belligerent operations."

(7, 8 and 9). These points deal with new procedures in the prize courts the effect of which the United States complains is "to subject traders to risk of loss, delay and expense so great and so burdensome as to practically destroy much of the export trade of the United States to neutral countries of Europe." (10, 11). These discuss the

ILLEGAL AND UNJUSTIFIABLE

(14). Whatever may be the conjectural conclusions drawn from trade statistics, the United States "maintains the right to sell goods into the general stock of a neutral country, and denounces as illegal and unjustifiable any attempt of belligerents to interfere with that right on the ground that it suspects that the previous supply of such goods in the neutral country which the imports renew or replace has been sold to an enemy." That is a matter with which the neutral vendor has no concern and which can in no way affect his rights of trade. Moreover, even if goods listed as conditional contraband are destined to an enemy country through a neutral country, that fact is not in itself sufficient to justify their seizure.

(15). In view of these considerations, the United States announces that it has no other course but "to contest seizures of vessels at sea upon conjectural suspicion and the practice of bringing them into port for the purpose, by search or otherwise, of obtaining evidence," and adds that "relying upon the regard of the British government for the principles of justice so frequently and uniformly manifested prior to the present war, this government anticipates that the British government will instruct their officers to refrain from these vexatious and illegal practices."

(16). Directing particular attention to the so-called "blockade measures" imposed by the order in council of March 11, the British note of July 23 last is cited to confirm the intention "to establish a blockade." After over six months' application of the blockade order, the note says, "the experience of American citizens has convinced the government of the United States that Great Britain has been unscrupulous in her efforts to distinguish between enemy and neutral trade."

(17). The practice of requiring a consigner to prove that his shipments are not bound to an enemy of Great Britain even when articles are on the embargo list of the neutral country to which they are destined, is characterized as "harrassing to neutral traders."

MUST CHALLENGE BLOCKADE

(18). While the United States government "was at first inclined to view with leniency the British measures which were termed in the correspondence but not in the order in council of March 11 as a 'blockade,'" because of the assurance of the British government that inconvenience to neutral trade would be minimized by the discretion left to the courts in the application of the order in council and by the instructions which it was said would be issued to the administrative and other authorities having to do with the execution of the so-called "blockade" measures, this government is now forced to the realization that its expectations, which were fully set forth in its note of March 30 were based on a misconception of the intentions of the British government, desiring to avoid controversy and in the expectation that the administration of the order in council would conform to the established rules of international law, this government has until now reserved the question of the actual validity of the order in council of March 11, insofar as it is considered by the government of Great Britain to establish a blockade within the meaning of that term as understood in the law and practices of nations, but in the circumstances now developed it feels that it can no longer permit the validity of the alleged blockade to remain unchallenged."

(19). Pointing out that in accordance with the dedication of Paris in 1856 the effectiveness of a blockade is "manifestly a question of fact," the United States says it is "common knowledge that the German coasts are open to trade with the Scandinavian countries." The recent placing of cotton on the British list of contraband is spoken of as making it appear "that the British government themselves have been forced to the conclusion that the blockade is ineffective to prevent shipments of cotton from reaching their enemies, or else that they are doubtful as to the legality of the form of blockade which they have sought to maintain."

(20). Decisions are cited to show that it is an essential principle, universally accepted, that a blockade must apply impartially to the ships of all nations, and it is added that "if belligerents themselves trade with blockaded ports," the principle in the past has been that they cannot be regarded as effectively blockaded. These decisions are referred to "since it is a matter of common knowledge that Great Britain and Great Britain."

(13). Attention is directed to the fact that Great Britain admits that her exports to neutral countries have also materially increased since the present war began. "Thus Great Britain," says the note, "concededly shines in creating a condition which is relied upon as a sufficient ground to justify the interception of American goods destined to neutral European ports. If British exports to those ports should be still further increased, it is obvious that, under the rule of evidence contended for by the British government, the presumption of enemy destination could be applied to a greater number of American cargoes, and American trade would suffer to the extent that British trade benefited by the increase. Great Britain cannot expect the United States to submit to such manifest injustice in order to permit the rights of its citizens to be so seriously impaired."

(21). These points deal with new procedures in the prize courts the effect of which the United States complains is "to subject traders to risk of loss, delay and expense so great and so burdensome as to practically destroy much of the export trade of the United States to neutral countries of Europe."

OFFENSIVE TO SIN BEST DEFENSE FOR AMERICA

Rev. Albert Marting, pastor of the Fourth St. M. E. church preached an interesting and helpful sermon yesterday morning, using as his subject the question of the hour: "Is Defense A Necessity?" The text was taken from Psalm 37, 39: "But the salvation of the righteous is of the Lord; in the time of trouble." Mr. Marting said in part: "In these days when so much is being said on the subject of protection and defense, we might well ask what are the causes which lead to the stating of this question, and why should defense be a necessity. Some men speak of peace at any price and some talk of 'consistent preparedness.' Some tell us that unless we prepare for defense that we will be an invalid like Belgium or 'bulldozed' like China and Greece. Others tell us that Belgium was prepared and that caused her downfall, that preparedness always invites performance. On the same page of our daily papers we find President Wilson calling us to support him in preparing for defense only, and Ex-Secretary Bryan telling us that preparedness is un-American and un-Christian. While we talk of the 'horror of war,' shall we be preparing for it? Perhaps we could answer the question of necessity from a Christian standpoint.

If, then, Christianity is worth anything at all, if Christ meant to you that "to you that if after a trial you fail to get any benefit from His use, your money will be refunded. When you stop 'drinking,' think of the money you'll save; besides, sober men are worth more to their employers and get higher wages. Costs only $1.00 a box. We have an interesting booklet about ORRINE that we are giving away free on request. Call at our store and talk it over.

SAYS REV. MARTING

to make all things new, this world included, the Christian answer will be the American, the international answer to the question: Is Defense A Necessity?

The new civilization is demanding a change for the better, present day disturbance notwithstanding. Quality and not quantity is to speak. Right and force must prevail. It is only a superficial view that creates the impression that civilization is inimical to peace. We can only see in the European conflict the downfall of the old civilization, which had not yet been superseded by the new in international affairs, even though the nations engaged in war were called Christian. When, however, some one claims the war spirit as indomitable and quotes

EXPECT A BIG CROWD AT BUSINES MEN'S BANQUET

Jesus as proof, we call a pause. We admit that Jesus said: "I came not to bring peace, but a sword." But what did He mean? If He meant it literally why did He not use the sword, rather than say to Peter: "Put up thy sword?" And why did He say as well: "They that take the sword shall perish with the sword." Surely Jesus does not legalize murder. Much rather did He speak of the "Sword of the Spirit," which is the word of God. He wanted that men should fight sin, and win sinners, not murder them. While the world would have us retaliate against wrong, Christ finds "a man's foes shall be they of his own household," the anger and hate and envy that arise within the heart. While it is human to resist the evil, it is divine to pray, "Father, forgive."

A defense is that which protects. Offense is related to offending. Now where does defense and offense begin? All the nations of Europe claim to be defending themselves. All in reality are offending the rest. Defense becomes offense the moment it is placed in action, for it is the offensive that wins. Is defense then a necessity? Surely not as we understand it today. And for America to prepare for defense in the height of ridiculousness. If the European dared speak to us he would say: "Thou fool." Is not right a better defense than might? Is it not better to be on God's side than to try to pray down God on our side? Is it not better to offer an offensive to sin within than to attempt a defensive against possible enemies without? Did not Israel of old win when she was right and righteous, and lose when she was not? Has not sin caused the downfall of every great nation? Be right; and the salvation of the righteous is of the Lord; He is their defense in the time of trouble." Let America fight sin within and do right without and she will know no enemy. An offensive to sin and wrong is the defense that will save America. An offensive to sin in the individual life means God at hand, "He is their strength in time of trouble."

A WONDERFUL ANTISEPTIC
Germs and infection aggravate ailments and retard healing. Stop that infection at once. Kill the germs and get rid of the poisons. For this purpose a single application of Sloan's Liniment not only kills the pain but destroys the germs. This neutralizes infection and gives nature assistance by overcoming congestion and gives a chance for the free and normal flow of the blood. Sloan's Liniment is an emergency doctor and should be kept constantly on hand. 25c, 50c. The $1.00 size contains six times as much as the 25c.

Leon Allen Arrested

Leon Allen, a former Scioto county young man now located in New Jersey, was arrested last Saturday for creating a disturbance at the home of his divorced wife, Mrs. Kate Vorhes, of Rosemount Road. A charge of failure to provide was lodged against him, and he was given a hearing before Judge Beatty Monday afternoon. Upon promise to pay fifty cents a week toward the support of his child, he was released

Between one hundred and one hundred and fifty members and guests of the Business Men's Association are expected to attend the annual banquet of the Association at "The Club" next Thursday evening. Invitations have been mailed out to all of the members, and the committee is desirous that acceptance cards will be returned immediately, in order that some idea can be had for how many to prepare.

The banquet will be served by Ferguson, who are clerks at the Smoke House, and Miss Myrtle Davis, who was employed at the Liberty Clothing store, were married Saturday evening at five o'clock at the All Saints' rectory, Rev. E. Auger Powell officiating, in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Herdman, brother-in-law and sister of the groom. The bride's home was formerly in Lynchburg, Va. Mr. Ferguson's many friends will be surprised to hear of his marriage. The young couple will make their home with the groom's parents on Fourth street.

The C. T. N. Mission Circle of the First Baptist church, will meet this evening at the home of Mrs. William Sellards, on Waller street.

Miss Nettie Nichols, of Fullerton, Ky., was the guest of Miss Sue Bevis over Sunday.

The Olio Club meets Tuesday evening at the home of the Misses Pray, on Ninth street.

Miss Ruth Milstead has resigned her position in the office of the Glockner Hardware store on account of the illness of her mother.

Friends in this city of Miss Alice Rees, of Waverly, will be pleased to learn that her condition has shown a marked improvement during the past week. She was able to be up and around Sunday. Until taken ill several weeks ago with rheumatism, she was employed in the office of the Home Telephone Company.

Miss Elizabeth Watkins left this morning for Cincinnati to visit a few days at the home of Miss Margaret Martin. She will be joined Wednesday by her mother, Mrs. J. L. Watkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brush, of Ninth street, entertained their young niece, Miss Margaret Howstetter, at six o'clock dinner last evening.

The Earnest Seekers of the First Baptist Sunday school met Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Marie Van Gorden. There were ten members and a few guests present. After the business a program was given as follows:

Reading—Miss Lucile Fulzing. Rounding—Miss Lois Burton. Piano—Miss Dorothy Doherty. Reading—Miss Marie Van Gorden.

Dear Miss Wise.—Please tell me what hour is called high noon when pertaining to a wedding, also is the meal served at that hour called breakfast, dinner or luncheon? One more question. Is it proper to have one's wedding gifts on display at a wedding? If so, are the cards left on? I have seen them on at several weddings.

BRIDE ELECT.

The time for a high noon wedding is at exactly 12 o'clock noon. The bridal repast served after such a ceremony is usually called a wedding breakfast sometimes a wedding luncheon. Whatever it is, the menu need not differ greatly from one served at a later time of day, although it is perhaps a simpler meal. It is the custom to arrange the wedding gifts in a room where the guests may view them the day of the wedding. The cards of the giver should not be left on the gifts, however, even though you say you have seen this once.

DEAR MISS WISE.

I want your advice on a few questions. I have gone with a friend who I do not like and my mother does. The reason I do not like him is because he is always wanting to kiss me. I am a girl of 15 years. Please tell me what to do?

BLIND EYES.

Tell your mother how he behaves and I am sure if she is the right sort of mother she will want you to stop seeing him immediately. At any rate give him up at once. A girl of 15 is altogether too young to have affairs of that kind. In fact no girl should permit such familiarities.

I will be grateful if you will kindly furnish a list of chautauqua companies with headquarters addresses. About what qualifications would they expect. I do not know the address of any chautauqua companies. Perhaps some of the musicians or officers of the Women's Club in your city could enlighten you on this subject. I should think a pleasing personality and a good voice would be all that's necessary for filling such a position.

TWO MEN ARE RUN DOWN BY AUTOMOBILES

One Victim Is In Hempstead Hospital,
Other Auto Mishaps

Luther M. Griffin, a well known member, stepped directly in front of a jitney bus driven by an automobile driven by George Clay Adams, of 1645 Offene street, just above Offene on Galilee street, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, and was seriously injured.

Griffin had started across the street to pay for some oil at F. W. Jansen's gasoline depot. His wife was on the opposite side of the street. Suddenly he was struck by a jitney and knocked over on the curb. He was unconscious and bleeding from multiple cuts and bruises when picked up and carried into Dr. E. O. McCall's office. That physician was ill and Dr. J. E. Rogers was summoned to attend the injured man, who after he was revived and his wounds dressed was removed to Hempstead hospital in the city-service wagon. It was found he had suffered the fracture of a rib, the sharp end of which had cut into the lung, producing danger of pneumonia or an abscess. He also had a bad cut above the eye, bruises on the leg and both ankles were hurt.

Adams claimed he was attracted to Griffin staggering about in the street and his wife tugging at him in an effort to hold him back to the curb. He said he tried to stop his car but it was impossible. Griffin resides at 1524 Gallia street.

Griffin was reported resting easier Monday morning but will probably have to be put under an anesthetic to attend to the injured ankles. He has been very unfortunate in the way of accidents in recent years. A year ago a hilltop car ran into his wagon and he was badly hurt. He brought suit for damages against the company but lost the suit.

Peebles Car
Badly Damaged

While motoring to the city from a trip down the West Side Saturday afternoon an automobile driven by Fred Manning, sales manager of the Peebles Paving Brick Company figured in an accident.

Mr. Manning, to avoid hitting a boy riding on a wheel, ran his machine off the road and so suddenly did the car leave the road that both front wheels were torn off. The car did not overturn and neither Mr. Manning nor members of his family were hurt. The machine had to be abandoned.

Mr. Manning walked to the city and sent another machine after his family and the disabled car.

Shaw Machine
Hit Telephone Pole

An automobile driven by Harry Shaw, who is a well known N. & W. employee, hit a telephone pole near Third and North Waller streets Thursday and the machine was badly damaged, but Mr. Shaw escaped injury. The bumper and radiator of the car were damaged.

Automobile Hit
Funeral Cab

Fred Agee, driving a Hudson 33 automobile, and a funeral cab came together at Fifth and Washington streets about five o'clock Sunday evening. The cab was ahead of the machine both coming east on Fifth. Agee intended turning north onto Washington and thought the cabman was going straight ahead but the cabman turned north on Washington, the automobile coming to a dead stop as it pushed the cab a few feet to one side. No damage was done.

CHANCE FOR EXERCISE

Everett Drew is in charge of the Second Presbyterian church gym on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, when it is open for men and boys. If enough show up to form a class an hour will be arranged for them and instructions given by Mr. Drew.

Class To Meet
Wednesday

The Union Bible class of the city will meet Wednesday evening at the Baptist church after prayer services. Next Sunday's lesson is the only one of the year taken from the Book of Daniel. Teacher VanGorder will spend some time Wednesday evening in giving an exposition on the prophecies of Daniel.

Prof Frank Appel and Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis American league team, have returned from a few days' fishing trip on the West Side. They were guests at Rockville while out of the city.

To Elect
Officers

Members of the Young Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church are requested to meet at the church Tuesday evening when new officers will be elected for the coming year. A very enjoyable social affair will follow the business session. John VanGorder is teacher of the class.

THEATRICAL
"Newlyweds" At The Sun
Tonight

Ted Dailey has a big laugh producing comedy to entertain the patrons of the Sun theatre for the first half of the week starting with tonight's performance at eight o'clock.

It is the "Newlyweds" and it is funnier than the pictures, which you have seen in the comic supplements for in the comedy you see all these funny things done.

It was written just to furnish laughter and it is so funny that you will forget about the "war in Europe" and that your favorite candidate was beaten at the election. Go see it tonight and you will thank somebody for the tip. It will make the worst ground be pleasant ever afterwards, for all there is to it is fun.

Dannie Warnock of Greenup and his Saxon runabout came to grief Sunday morning about 11 o'clock on Park avenue opposite the J.W. Fennell livery barn, New Boston. Warnock was coming down Park avenue and attempted to turn into the alley when the machine skidded on the wet street. The car swung around against the curb. The front right wheel was broken, two fenders were bent and the rear axle was bent. Warnock was not injured but received a shaking up. The car was later taken to a Portsmouth garage for repairs.

The runabout when it skidded crashed into the car of James Beaver of this city and which was occupied by himself and family. The leader of the Beaver smashed

New Pastor Makes Splendid Impression

Rev. B. F. Caudill of Huntington, W. Va., delivered his first sermon as pastor of the First Baptist church Sunday morning.

Two large congregations greeted Rev. Caudill who is more than pleased with his new charge. Sunday morning Rev. Caudill took as his subject, "The Symbol of the New Covenant" and in the evening he gave an evangelistic talk, using as his subject, "The New Birth." The First Baptist congregation is very highly pleased with Rev. Caudill's work.

The new pastor returned to Huntington Monday to make arrangements to move his family to this city. The parsonage is being repainted and repaired and Rev. Caudill expects to be located here within another week. He will not be on hand for the mid-week prayer services Wednesday night but will be here in time for next Sunday.

2,200 PEOPLE ATTENDED
HOLY REDEEMER SERVICES

Sunday was one of the greatest days in the history of the Holy Redeemer church, the attendance at all the services being estimated at 2,200 by Rev. J. E. McGuirk. Seven hundred communicants approached the altar. The day also marked the thirty-sixth anniversary of Father McGuirk's admission into priesthood and he took advantage of the occasion to most heartily thank members of his progressive congregation for the many deeds of kindness they had preferred on him during his pastorate of Holy Redeemer.

At the services Sunday evening Rev. Father Alexander, C. P., of the Holy Cross Monastery of Cincinnati delivered an eloquent and powerful sermon on the subject of "The Power of Christ in the Blessed Sacrament." Services will be held tonight at 7 o'clock and Father Alexander will deliver his second sermon.

Father McGuirk in the confessional services was assisted by Fathers Carey, Mead and Richter.

The forty hours' devotional services will be closed Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Services will be held tomorrow morning at 4:30, 6, 7 and 8:30 o'clock.

The beautiful Holy Redeemer chimes were heard at various times Sunday and added a touch of harmony to the impressive services held in this church, which was exquisitely decorated for the occasion.

MUSCULAR BACKACHE

The muscles of the back do the heavy work of the body. When they are overworked or ill nourished they ache and people who are looking for trouble begin to worry about their kidneys.

Backache may be due to lumbago, which is rheumatism of the muscles of the back, but more backaches are caused by overstrain, overwork and muscle starvation due to thin blood than by anything else.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and sufferers from backache would do well to try this treatment before giving way to worry over a fancied organic disease. Rest and the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will correct most forms of backache, even rheumatism.

For people who work too hard or dance too much and sleep too little, better habits and a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are all that are needed to drive away the pains and aches that are warnings of a coming breakdown.

Two books, "Building Up the Blood" and "Nervous Disorders" will be sent free if you are interested, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the nearest drug store or by mail at 65 cents per box, six boxes, $2.50.

The Conference was a grand success in every respect, and the visiting delegates were loud in their praise of the hospitality of the Portsmouth scouts. There were about 50 visiting delegates, besides the 200 representing Portsmouth troops. Much credit for the success of the Conference is due the entertainment committee composed of Scouts Corwin Knowles, chairman, Marion Garrison, Howard Lowry and William Hopkins, who worked unceasingly for weeks before the Conference and throughout its sessions, to make it go down in local Scout history as the greatest Scout achievement to date.

The next session of the Conference will be held next May at Lucasville, and will be more of an encampment as tents will be provided for all visiting delegates, and one whole day will be devoted to field and athletic events.

THE CHARM OF MOTHERHOODEnhanced By Perfect Physical Health.

The experience of Motherhood is trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother's result.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

"Trouble Bug" Turned Loose, 23 Arrests Made Saturday Night

A wave of lawlessness, which was regarded by many as an election aftermath, swept over the city and kept the police on the jump Saturday night, they making a total of 23 arrests, record breaking number for a single night.

There were a number of fights and a couple of raids upon disorderly houses. Probably the most serious fight occurred at Mill and Gay streets. Joe Allen was on the way home in Red Row when accosted by Will George, a plasterer. George picked up a couple of brick bats and Allen warned him that he would administer the beating of his life time if he threw them at him. George heaved the bricks and Allen waded into him, knocking him down and kicking him unmercifully.

By the time police rescued George his left eye was almost knocked out of its socket and his sight will be permanently impaired.

Both men were arrested.

SPEEDING IS CHARGED

A. N. Dixon, of Sciotoville, and a young man named Grassman have been ordered to appear in the mayor's court for alleged speeding Saturday night. They are said to have driven their cars at the rate of 40 miles per hour.

COMPLETES FIRST YEAR

Rev. Bliss B. Cartwright completed his first year as pastor of the Central Presbyterian church Sunday. He came to this city from his old home in Manchester, his last charge before coming here being at Catawba, Clark county. Sunday morning's sermon was given over to communion service. In the evening Rev. Cartwright chose as his sermon, "The Broad Face." The main work to be done this year is the reorganization of the Young People's work in this church.

Gets Good News

Henry Clark, a steelworker, of Stewartsville, received word Saturday, that he had just been allowed $1850 as his share in the Dr. Henry Logan estate at Morehead, Rowan county, Ky. His claim had been the subject of litigation for nearly a quarter of a century.

Rev. Herron's Car Hit Cincinnati Constable

The following of interest regarding a former Episcopalian minister of this city is from Sunday's Cincinnati Enquirer:

Clarence Fox, 30 years old a constable of 4159 Langdon avenue, was knocked down by an automobile driven by Rev. Joseph D. Herron, of 8406 Burns avenue, Carthage, at Sixth and Main streets, about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He suffered a cut over the eye and contusions of the head and body. He was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital. Rev. Herron was cited to court on a charge of reckless driving."

Masons To Install Fine Pipe Organ

Local Masonic bodies are negotiating for the purchase of a fine pipe organ to be installed in the Lodge room in the Masonic Temple, which is being enlarged and thoroughly remodeled. If the deal goes through, which is extremely likely, the local Temple will boast of one of the finest organs in the state.

Work is progressing rapidly on the extensive improvements to the fifth and sixth floors of the Temple, which are used exclusively for Masonic purposes, and they will be completed in about six weeks, from present indications.

Compensation and damages amounting to $900 was awarded Chick. There are four more of these cases to be heard yet unless they are settled.—Irontonian.

To Attend Jasper Camp

Roy McEllaney, district manager of the Woodmen of the World, will go to Jasper, Pike county, Wednesday evening, to attend a big meeting of the Jasper Camp.

OLD AGE A CRIME!

Some people are young at 60—red cheeked, ruddy and vigorous. Others are old at 40—joints beginning to stiffen up a bit; step beginning to lag and lose its springiness; occasional touches of pain in the back; feel tired without cause, and possibly a twinge of rheumatic pain.

In most cases, these are the danger signals to warn you that the kidneys are not promptly doing their work of throwing off the poisons that are always forming in the body. To neglect these natural warnings is a crime against yourself. If you have these symptoms, you can find prompt relief in GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. For more than 200 years, this has been the recognized remedy for kidney and bladder ailments.

GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are imported direct from the laboratories at Haarlem, Holland. Prices are 25c, 50c and $1.00. Get them at your druggists. Do not take a substitute.

CHICK GETS $900

The case of the Ohio Valley Tractor Co., against Charles Chick in which the plaintiff sought to condemn a right of way has been completed.

BACK FROM INDIANA

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Creekbaum, Fourth street, have returned from a visit through the state of Indiana. Mr. Creekbaum recently secured the local sales right for the Jesse French pianos, and while at New Castle, Ind., he placed a large order, having sold four of this make of instrument since returning to the city. Mr. and Mrs. Creekbaum had a most delightful visit at their old home city, Richmond, where they met many friends.

Boys Before Probate Court

Ray and Roy Cleary, brothers of the East End, were brought before Judge Beatty Saturday morning to answer to charges of habitual truancy and general incorrigibility, preferred by J. A. MARRIED MAN'S LOVE AFFAIR CAUSES ARRESTS

Mother Comes On Scene And Uses Fists In A Scrap; A Racy Story Is Told To The Police

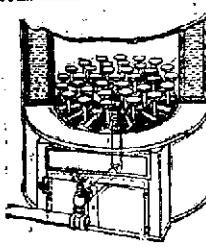

A day of exciting events in the clandestine courtship of Lou D. Smith an Ironton furniture dealer, and Miss Delta Evans, a rather comely 18-year-old stenographer of this city, reached its climax in their arrest on disorderly conduct charges preferred by the latter's mother, Mrs. C. Jeff Evans, Sunday evening. The mother was also arrested earlier in the afternoon, following a fight with Smith over her daughter.

Smith spent the night in the city prison with his Scotch collie dog as a companion, he having asked the privilege of taking the pet into the cell room with him. He had offered to put up his "touring car," which he valued at $1200, as security, but the police officials insisted upon a cash bond of $100, which he was unable to give. The girl, after a stormy scene with her mother, whom she berated for causing their detention and Smith's imprisonment, was also placed under $100 bond, but permitted to return with her parent, though she preferred to have spent the night under the same roof with her lover.

Confessed He Loved Stenographer

The arrest of the couple revealed one of the most extraordinary and sensational cases that has come to the notice of the local police in years. Smith, though married and making his home with his lawfully wife at Ironton, openly professed his love for the stenographer, who formerly worked for him. She appeared to be just as infatuated with him. The mother charged that he exercised some strange power over her daughter, whom he had repeatedly threatened to kill, and that she had recently returned all of his love missives and tried to break with him. Smith, on the other hand, accused Mrs. Evans of not only sanctioning the courtship between him and her daughter, but also of encouraging it to the extent that until in the past fortnight he was privileged to visit the Evans home whenever he pleased and was always accorded a hearty welcome. This the mother vehemently denied and declared he would never be able to prove it unless he bribed someone to stabbed the mother.

Mrs. Evans began weeping bitterly after she was assured that Smith was safe behind bars for the night. "Yes, you better cry, you're the cause of all this by your unladylike acts today," snapped the daughter. "That's a nice thing, not even giving a man a chance to give bond," continued she. She declared it made no difference if she spent the night there or at home. "Can it be possible, Delta, that you are so hardened?" asked the mother, trembling with emotion.

You'll Be Sorry Declares Girl

"You need your $100 worse than the police court does, and mark my words you'll be sorry for all this," said Miss Evans. The mother was advised by Capt. Grant Cooper that she could do nothing better than have her daughter locked up for the night. "Oh, no, for she's my daughter, my own flesh and blood; I stand good for her appearance," said she. Mrs. Evans said that Smith would wish nothing better than the satisfaction that Delta was in the same prison with him. She said he had stooped to everything, even to having trumped up charges against her daughter and having her arrested and taken to Ironton that he might pay her fine and secure her release, just for the opportunity of being near her. Smith and Miss Evans while at headquarters repeatedly winked, smiled and whispered to each other, he several times drawing his chair up close to Mrs. Evans. The girl, after a hurried return to the same garage, had difficulty in separating them. Flowers placed them under arrest, taking them to police headquarters in an automobile. Disorderly charges were placed against them. Smith put up a $10 bond and was released, while Flowers stood good for Mrs. Evans' appearance in court. She is his tenant, her family occupying one of his properties on New Eighth street.

Smith Is A Persistent Fellow
Undaunted by the arrest and two attacks made upon him by Mrs. Evans, Smith succeeded in getting in touch with the girl, and they turned up at the N. & W. depot just about the time passenger train No. 32 arrived. Mrs. Evans appeared on the scene and appealed to detectives to arrest them. The officers told her they had no authority to keep the girl from boarding a train with Smith, but could arrest him for having his automobile on railroad property. This she asked them to do and the pair were brought to headquarters.

A dramatic scene followed. Mrs. Evans calling Smith a degenerate who had darkened her once happy home and saying she would rather see her daughter lying in a casket than under his influence. "I would have went out this afternoon if I had to drop dead," bravely asserted the daughter. "I wished you had."

Smith Admits He's In Love
Smith, when interviewed by Times representatives after he was locked up, talked freely about his love affair and present predicament. "I want to tell you I love that girl, gentlemen, and have for the past eighteen months," said he, his voice rising and attracting the dozen or more other prisoners to his side. Smith said that there was but one side to the case and that the Evans had no side, as he would prove in due time. He claimed he would be able to show that the girl's mother and son had sent to the girl through a go-between and would defeat back the replies, that she permitted the daughter to visit the State Fair in Columbus with him, that it was not necessary for him to meet the girl on the outside when he repeatedly was permitted to go to the Evans home.

"I'll admit I'm doing wrong, but I love the girl. I've given my wife every opportunity to get a divorce, but I'm making her a good living and doing my duty in that respect. She is a frail and delicate little woman, weighing not more than ninety pounds, and like all women who are imposed upon, is a good woman, but I'm one of these fellows who don't care, that's all there is to it."

Mrs. Evans previously denied Smith's claim, but asserted regarding the State Fair trip and said she would be able to produce a letter from a girl friend of her daughter's asking her to come to Columbus for a visit. Turning to her daughter, she asked, "Did you do it, Delta?" "I don't deny nothing and I don't admit nothing," replied the girl. "Yes, you two have gotten a nice story framed up," retorted the mother. Both she and Smith were so warm at times that the daughter commanded them to "shut up."

School House Destroyed

One thought to have been of Indian origin, destroyed the Barberville schoolhouse, between Proctorville and Sevierville, this evening. Saturday afternoon, from the west, a large crowd of Indians, who were in the vicinity, gathered around the schoolhouse and set it on fire. The building was completely destroyed.

Pastor Is Carrying Hod

"You carry hod and I'll lay brick," replied a prominent member of the Centenary M. E. church, south of Ashland, Ky., to the pastor, Rev. P. E. Thornburg, when the latter proposed the members do some work on the parsonage.

"Done," declared Mr. Thornburg.

And so it is that with the pastor carrying the hod like a genuine Irishman, with his cob pipe and dinner pail, while the men of the church are laying brick, doing carpenter work and other tasks that are going into the erection of the parsonage.

WATCH SORE THROATS

because swollen glands or inflamed membranes often affect other tissues and lung trouble easily follows.

As Nature's corrector of throat trouble the pure cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is speedily converted into germ-resisting tissue; its tested glycerin is curative and healing, while this wholesome emulsion relieves the trouble and upbuilds the forces to resist tubercular germs and avert the weakening influence which usually follows.

If any member of your family has a tender throat, get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion-to-day. Physicians prescribe it to avert throat troubles, overcome bronchial disorders and strengthen the lungs. No alcohol or harmful drugs. Always insist on Scott's.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy — If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to keep your liver and bowels in good condition. It is the secret of having a satiny complexion—dark rings under your eyes—impurities a thing of the past.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, uses a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for gentle medicine in their action, are always effective.

They bring about that exuberance of spirit that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and removing the system of impurities.

You will find Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color, 14c and 26c per box. All druggists.

Expense Accounts

Must Be Filed

All candidates at the recent election must have their expense accounts filed with the board of elections by next Friday at midnight, or they will be guilty of a violation of the statutes relating to that part of the election laws. This includes all candidates whether municipal, judicial or township.

The law prescribes that every candidate, no matter whether elected or defeated, or any organization or committee connected with the election, shall file, not later than November 12, an itemized statement of all receipts and expenditures during the campaign. Where an expenditure is over $10, a voucher or receipt must accompany the statement.

The board of elections is prohibited from issuing a certificate of election to any person until the law is complied with, and failure to comply means forfeiture of the office to which the candidate was elected.

The law prescribes a fine of not less than $100 or more than $500, or imprisonment not to exceed six months, or both for violation of any part of the law.

Blanks on which to make the statement may be obtained from James R. Distel or J. F. Johnley, clerks of the board of elections.

POLITICS

Among post-election comments that appeared in the political columns of Sunday's Enquirer was the following:

"Young gentlemen desiring to attain proficiency as punters for college football teams are respectfully invited by Congressman Charles C. Kearns, of Clermont, and Hon. Roy McElhaney, of Portersmouth, to repair at their convenience to their respective domiciles and kick them to their heart's content. Kick Kearns and Mac understand both these distinguished blocks were opposed to the late-lamented Sprague congressional jerryrigger on personal grounds. But the pressure to be regular was put upon them from Republican state headquarters, and by His Excellency, the governor. Sheep-faced they took the platform and parroted an appeal to the voters to vote against the referendum. Kearns must have winked while he was talking, because he went out 155 against the ripper.

McElhaney kept his eyes open and appeared so sincere that the voters in Scioto county gave 469 for the poor thing. Maybe he was on the level because the ripper would have restored Scioto county to the old Ninth District and he wouldn't have been annoyed by the second term claim of Kearns. As it is, they are both left in the new Sixth District and Mac will have to surrender his beloved congressional aspirations or come out flat-footed and try to make Kearns a yearling. This would be establishing a dangerous precedent and quite likely he will not undertake anything so radical. The defeat of the ripper "busts" the deal which Congressman Robert M. Switzer, of Gallia, had to get another term and only a clairvoyant can tell what's going to happen in the old "red popper" territory next year.

NOTE TO GREAT BRITAIN IS FIRM

United States To Champion
The Rights Of Neutrals On The Question Of Shipping

NOTIFIES AMERICAN CITIZENS TO SEEK REDRESS THROUGH DIPLOMATIC CHANNELS OF THIS COUNTRY

Washington, Nov. 8.—Publication today of the American note to Great Britain, denouncing as "ineffective, illegal and indefensible," the attempted blockade against Germany and Austria, gives notice to the citizens of the United States whose legitimate foreign trade is interfered with by the allies that they should seek redress directly through the diplomatic channels of their own government rather than through prize courts.

This latest note, delivered by Ambassador Page to the British foreign office, is an exhaustive document dealing with England's interference with American trade since the outbreak of the war. In effect, it is a communication also to France, which has followed her ally in the treatment of overseas commerce, as a copy was presented to the French embassy here.

Thirty-five points are treated in the note, and, in conclusion, Secretary Lansing declared that the United States "cannot with complacence suffer further subordination of its rights and interests to the plea that the exceptional geographic position of the enemies of Great Britain require or justify oppressive and illegal practices."

The relations between the United States and Great Britain, he says, might be governed not by expediency but by established rules of international conduct, it is of the highest importance to neutrals not only of the present day, but of the future that the principles of international right be maintained unimpaired, and the United States unhesitatingly assumes the task of championing the rights of neutrals.

Heretofore Americans whose

NO CURTAILMENT OF RIGHT

In conclusion, after an argument on the law and facts, Secretary Lansing says:

"The United States cannot submit to the curtailment of its neutral rights by measures, which are admittedly retaliatory, and intended to punish the enemies of Great Britain for alleged illegalities on their part. The United States might not be in a position to object to them if its interest and the interests of all neutrals were unaffected by them, but, being affected, it cannot without compunction suffer further subordination of its rights and interests to the plea that the exceptional geographic position of the enemies of Great Britain require or justify oppressive and illegal

"This task of championing the integrity of neutral rights, which have received the sanction of the civilized world against the lawless conduct of belligerents arising out of the bitterness of the great conflict which is now wasting the countries of Europe, the United States毫不犹豫地 assumes, and to the accomplishment of that task it will devote its energies, exercising always that impartiality which from the outbreak of the war it has sought to exercise in its relations with the warring nations."

The points made by the United States, summarized, are:

(1). The statistics presented by Great Britain to prove an increase rather than a decrease in American trade "fail to take into

ASSERTION A MISCONCEPTION

(5). Answering the assertion of Great Britain that the position of the United States in relation to search at sea is inconsistent with its practice during the Civil War, the note says this is based upon a "misconception." A careful search of the records "shows conclusively that there were no instances when vessels were brought into port for search prior to instituting prize court proceedings," and that captures were not made upon other grounds than evidence found on the ship under investigation and not upon circumstances ascertained from external sources." It is here, that Secretary Lansing appends a copy of the instructions issued to American naval officers on August 18, 1862.

(6). In answer to the British contention that conditions relating to the size and seaworthiness of modern carriers justify bringing vessels into port, there is cited the report of a board of United States naval experts, just made, in which it is declared, that it is not necessary to remove "every package of a ship's cargo" to establish the character and nature of her trade, that the facilities for boarding and inspection of modern ships, are in fact greater than in former times, and that to permit ships to be taken into port "would be a direct aid to the belligerents concerned in that it would release a belligerent vessel overhauling the neutral from its duty of search and set it free for further belligerent operations."

(7, 8 and 9). These points deal with new procedures in the prize courts, the effect of which the United States complains is "to subject traders to risk of loss, delay and expense so great and so burdensome as to practically destroy much of the export trade of the United States."

(10). Whatever may be the conjectural conclusions drawn from trade statistics, the United States "maintains the right to sell goods into the general stock of a neutral country, and denounces as illegal and unjustifiable any attempt of a belligerent to interfere with that right on the ground that it suspects that the previous supply of such goods in the neutral country which the imports renew or replace has been sold to an enemy. That is a matter with which the neutral vendor has no concern, and which can in no way affect his rights of trade. Moreover, even if goods account the increased price of commodities resulting from a state of war or to make any allowance for the diminution in the volume of trade which the neutral countries in Europe previously had with the nations at war."

(2). Detentions by Great Britain have not been uniformly based on proofs obtained at the time of seizure, but many vessels have been detained while search was made for evidence." The question has been one of evidence to support the belief of many cases a bare suspicion of enemy destination, or occasionally of enemy origin of the goods involved."

(3). Attention is directed with regard to search of neutral vessels at sea to the instructions issued to the naval commanders of the United States, Great Britain, Russia, Japan, Spain, Germany and France from 1888 to the beginning of the present war to show that search in port was not contemplated by the government of any of these countries."

(4). An examination of the opinion of the most eminent text writers on the laws of nations shows "that they give practically no consideration to the question of search in port outside of examination in the course of regular prize court proceedings."

(5). Answering the assertion of Great Britain that the position of the United States to neutral countries of Europe.

(10, 11). These discuss the question of the burden of proof as to the non-contraband of goods consigned to or from the United States, arguing that none of the cases cited by Great Britain proves that the burden of proof can rightly be made to rest upon the claimants.

(12). The greatly increased imports of neutral countries adjoining Great Britain's enemies, "cannot be accepted as laying down a just or legal rule of evidence" that commodities are destined for re-exportation to the belligerents. Such a rule, it is argued, "offers too great opportunity for abuse by the belligerents" and is opposed "to those fundamental principles of justice which are the foundation of the jurisprudence of the United States and Great Britain."

(13). Attention is directed to the fact that Great Britain admits that her exports to neutral countries have also materially increased since the present war began. "Thus Great Britain," says the note, "consciously shares in creating a condition which is relied upon as a sufficient ground to justify the interception of American goods destined to neutral European ports. If British exports to those ports should be still further increased, it is obvious that, under the rule of evidence contended for by the British government, the presumption of enemy destination could be applied to a greater number of American cargoes, and American trade would suffer to the extent that British trade benefited by the increase."

Great Britain cannot expect the United States to submit to such manifest injustice or to permit the rights of its citizens to be so seriously impaired."

(14). Whatever may be the conjectural conclusions drawn from trade statistics, the United States "maintains the right to sell goods into the general stock of a neutral country, and denounces as illegal and unjustifiable any attempt of a belligerent to interfere with that right on the ground that it suspects that the previous supply of such goods in the neutral country which the imports renew or replace has been sold to an enemy. That is a matter with which the neutral vendor has no concern, and which can in no way affect his rights of trade. Moreover, even if goods

CHICAGO WITNESSED A MONSTER WET PARADE ON SUNDAY

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Appeal was declared to be the largest and revision of the Sunday saloon closing law, giving cities home rule on the question, will be made to Governor Dunne today by the saloon interests, who yesterday held a street parade in the down-town district as protest against Mayor Thompson's order closing Sunday saloons in Chicago.

Fewer violations of the saloon closing order were reported by police today than on any previous Sunday. Only twenty-five violations, as compared with sixty-two a week ago, were reported. There were forty-six arrests for drunkenness.

Governor Dunne will be asked to include the home rule proposal in his call for a special session of the state legislature. The demonstration yesterday, held under the auspices of the United Societies, numbered 101,000.

In addition to the regular delegates, fraternal delegates from Canada, Great Britain, and possibly Japan expect to participate in the deliberations of the convention.

The opening session today was held in the California building at the Panama Pacific Exposition, where official recognition of the organization was accorded by Exposition officials.

CANNOT INTERFERE WITH BUDGET COMMISSION

Columbus, Nov. 8.—In an opinion written by Judge Newman of Portsmouth, handed down Saturday, the state supreme court held that in the absence of fraud, bad faith, or abuse of discretion, it is not within the power of the court to interfere with the action of the budget commission of a taxing district. This opinion relates to the recent action of the supreme court in dismissing the petition of the city of Dayton, asking the court to compel the Montgomery county budget commissioners to change their figures on next year's tax returns. The court held that an action in mandamus will not lie to control an error of judgment or exercise of official direction by such commissioners reducing the estimates contained in a budget.

ATTEMPTED TO POISON HORSES

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 8.—Ten thousand war horses assembled here during last week from points in the middle west, were last night and today forwarded to Elizabeth, N. AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR IS IN SESSION AT SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, Nov. 8.—Hundreds of delegates representing more than 2,000,000 organized laboring men of the United States were here today at the opening session of the thirty-fifth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, which is to continue for two weeks. Samuel Gompers, president of the organization, opened the convention.

CRIPPLED P. H. S. TEAM EASY FOR IRONTON HIGH

Black and gold warriors of dot when it came to tearing through the line for a big gain. It was good on end runs and splendid on forward passes. "David is in the whole team and we just simply could not get out of him on him," said P. H. S. player Saturday night. The other I. H. S. battlefield men played their positions well. Ends Mittendorf and Haney, who were expected to help greatly in the scoring, fell down.

One of the features of the game was the attendance, which was near the 800 mark. P. H. S. and I. H. S. are bitter rivals on the field of sport and the game was exciting from the start to the very finish. Over fifty P. H. S. fans were present, the trip being made in automobiles. The Red and Blue squad certainly made it well heard.

Captain Duvell was out of the game, the team being in charge of Acting Captain Bill Quinn. With three regulars and two regular substitutes out of the lineup, P. H. S. presented a poor chance of winning, but the fight they made showed they still had the old P. H. S. spirit.

The locals made their lone score in the third quarter. Nutter doing the heavy work. He caught a forward pass and with "Red" Williams for interference started down the field and run for 30 yards. They dodged the first man and Williams toppled over the other. Nutter then had a clear field.

Nutter received upwards of ten forward passes. Three successive passes netted about 70 yards. Williams came in for his share of the passes and made several splendid end runs. Quinn carried the ball through the line for big gains. Wagner at fullback also showed that he could tear holes in a heavy line by making line plunges good for several yards each time.

Breece and Trone, new men at the halfback positions, played their positions like veterans and Morris ran the team well from quarter back position. The game was only a few minutes old when Ironton discovered U. H. S. was not weak on passes as was reported to the Ironton team.

Captain Davis, quarterback, played the star role for I. H. S. He was in the midst of every play and made three of the four touchdowns. He was right on the

Muldoons Beaten

It is sad but true, the Muldoons lost another game Sunday, the Ironton Rags being the victors by a score of 18 to 6. The Rags in the last two seasons have won nine games from the Muldoons.

The heavy Rags tore through the Muldoons' line for big gains, and worked a number of successful forward passes, which resulted in touchdowns. Shireck, half back of the locals, caught a pass and went over for a touchdown, the only point made by the Muldoons.

DARTMOUTH VICTORIOUS

Dartmouth beat University of Pennsylvania Saturday, 7 to 3, both teams scoring in the final quarter. Gravy Williams, as usual, performed consistently for the Pennsylvanians, who presented a patched-up team.

One of the real surprises in the football world Saturday was the defeat of Ohio Wesleyan at the hands of University of Cincinnati, 17 to 6. The Methodists were touted as state champions early in the season, but the old doge pot has been upset as Miami beat O. W. U., U. of C. turned the same trick and Miami met defeat at the hands of Denison, 7 to 6.

Rac. Selby played his usual clever game for O. W. U. Saturday evening. Judge D. D. Woodmansee entertained members of the O. W. U. team at dinner and Mr. Selby was among the guests present at the delightful affair. Judge Woodmansee is a graduate of O. W. U. and a real college atmosphere permeated the banquet room.

Methodists Beaten By U. of C. 17 to 6

At a meeting of the directors of the Masonic Bowling League, held at the Temple Saturday evening and presided over by President William Zottmann, it was unanimously decided to hold a get-together banquet at Seel's Parlor, Second street, Friday evening of this week.

This will be the opening gun of the bowling season, and with a short time the mineralite balls will be gliding down the slick maple paths for splits, strikes, spares or misses, and the best league that Portsmouth ever saw will be in full blast.

The winners of last year's pentant, the Giant Killers, will be presented with a pennant or suitable tokens. Cards will be sent out Tuesday by President Zottmann inviting the members of the league to attend the banquet.

Needless to add that all members will be present.

GOOD HORSE FOR CANDIDATE

Here's a good tip for a prospective candidate for county office next year. John W. Hall, clerk of courts, is offering for sale in The Times this evening his fine driving mare.

This mare formerly belonged to Probate Judge Beatty and with it he campaigned all over Scioto county three years ago for election to the office of probate judge. Last year, Mr. Hall purchased it from Judge Beatty, and drove it all over the county in his two campaigns for nomination and election as county clerk, which formerly included Scioto, Pike, Ross and Adams.

NO ENTHUSIASM AROUSED.

The announcement that former U. S. Senator Burton and Governor Willis had reached an understanding and would con-for today with the idea of issuing a statement of their joint plans, by which Burton is to get the Ohio delegation for the presidency and Willis is to run again for governor, will be received with mixed feelings by Republicans of the state. They may find room to enthuse over Burton, but none whatever over Willis. The latter has made himself so objectionable to many members of his own party that it would seem to be almost a miracle were he to be re-elected. His administration has been a series of blunders from the day he stepped into office, and he has alienated members of his own party by his extraordinary disposal of patronage, he having persistently ignored the party organizations and gone outside for his advisors and appointees. In view of the dissatisfaction it would not be surprising were opposition to develop to Willis' re-nomination, although this is hardly expected, as politicians
jected to the revenge of Willis' friends at the polls. If they are to be beaten they figure Willis might as well take it as the next man.

On the whole, the intention of Willis to run again will mean a lively battle in Ohio next fall with the chances in favor of the Democratic nominee. As the rock-ribbed Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune put it recently, "Willis is expected to run like a man tied to a post."

As for Ex-Senator Burton, he is a big man, of broad attainments and experience in governmental affairs. He is big enough to command the attention and respect of the country and with a solid delegation from Ohio his chances for capturing the Republican nomination for president are exceptionally good.

FAVORABLE FAILURE FEATURES

(From Bradstreet's Journal)

Business was active in October, and bank clearings, export trade and iron production and demand broke all records. With greater activity there naturally came a little increase of failures, but comparisons with last year are better, and it seems evident that the turn of the tide witnessed in September failure comparisons has been maintained and even increased. Decreases in failures from a year ago are no longer confined to New York but are noted in other cities and states, and in fact, the October showing in the middle states, the northwest, far west and south is better than a year ago as regards number of failures, while liabilities are smaller than a year ago in every group except the west, which returns the only really unfavorable showing made by any group as compared with October last year.

There were 1,354 failures reported to Bradstreet's Journal in October, an increase of 6.8 per cent over September, but a decrease of 6.3 per cent from October, 1914, while compared with October, 1913, there is an increase shown of 8 per cent. It is in liabilities, however, that October business troubles make their best showing, the liabilities for the month just closed being only $16,946, 470, an increase of 28 per cent over September, it is true, but 28 per cent smaller than in October last year, and 20 per cent less than in October, 1913, while only 24 per cent larger than in October, 1912, in some respects the best month witnessed in the country's history as regards business volume. It is interesting to note in connection with the comparisons of past years that October, 1907, eight years ago, saw liabilities of failing concerns of $172, 675,890, the greatest liabilities ever reported in any month in the country's history.

REMEMBER THE ORPHANS.

This year, when nuts are so plentiful in this county, it has been suggested to us that boys and girls living in the vicinity of walnut and hickory nut and chestnut trees have an opportunity to earn the grateful remembrance of a lot of other little boys and girls who are not so fortunate in life as they. We refer to the orphans at the Children's Home. There are sixty of them and they enjoy eating nuts as much as any one. So why cannot the boys and girls out in the country, out of their plentiful store, spare a few nuts for the less fortunate children in the Orphans' Home? We hope that there will be generous response. If there be any one who wants to donate nuts to the Home children, The Times will see to it that they get the nuts, if the donors will only let us know.

We feel this way about the coming report in regard to the recent board of county commissioners and recent county auditor.
If these gentlemen have transgressed the law, have not conducted their offices in compliance with law, the people are entitled to the information. If they have done what is right, it is due them that they be exonerated, as there has been a great deal of talk in which names have been mentioned in the most indiscriminate manner.
When it comes to not doing things in a legal manner, there should be no question of politics but the ones who failed in their obligations should be exposed.

One of the small pleasures of our life is to read the stock market every day as soon as the carbon copy of the excellent Associated Press report comes to our desk, figure out just how much money we would have had if we had possessed the money to back our judgment in buying C. & O. stock when it was 32, and then proceed to spend our profits with the most reckless abandon.

THE VENOM, "THEY SAY."

A young wife and mother, living at Western Springs, Ill., recently committed suicide. The coroner's jury, after investigation, returned a verdict that the woman was "killed by idle gossip." The venom, "they say," had done its work effectively, as it always does, and had killed a woman who could not stand the rumors that came to her ears concerning things that should not have interested the public. Facts perhaps had been magnified and distorted until they bore no resemblance to the original, or else lies were made out of whole cloth and bandied about from gossiping mouth to mouth, growing with each repetition, until the object of the slanders in desperation sought to escape by the only avenue that appeared open to her.

Scandal and slander play a too important part in the affairs of life, and while laws are provided for redress, still they fail in their purpose, for many people would rather suffer in silence and strive to live down the effect of a lie than secure vindication with its attendant publicity by an action at law. The shrinking, sensitive individual will go through life bleeding inwardly for years, so to say, because of slander's wounds or else escape by the open door to the beyond. The time may come when the gossiper will be treated as he or she merits, when the opening sentence, "Have you heard about—" will send the speaker to Coventry and bar him or her from honest homes.—Pittsburgh Sun.

Six hundred majority in a great state like Kentucky is not much for a candidate for governor, but then it is enough to give Stanley the right to occupy the executive mansion and draw the salary as governor for the next four years. However, we can imagine the feelings of Col. Morrow, his defeated opponent. He will doubtless be figuring the rest of his life as to just where he could have gotten the few votes needed to have insured his election.

And now they say that our new state board of agriculture gave out 50,000 passes to the recent state fair, and that most of them went indiscriminately to politicians. Also that bands were hired by the wholesale at figures that approximated about $12 per hour per man. Four agricultural papers received large subsidies, while Columbus newspaper men who said pretty things about the new board got $250 for it. All of which makes it apparent that the Agricultural Decentralizer should also have been included in the list of Willis' bills submitted to the people.

Attention has been called by a number of people to the growing habit of small boys to run into the street and perch on behind automobiles. It is a most dangerous custom and unless it is broken up we fear that some boy is going to get badly hurt. He might fall from the machine, he might get run over as he darts out or he might get in the path of another machine as he seeks to get off the automobile. Parents should caution their children against the habit and police authorities should also take a hand when cases come to their attention.

We do not know whether or not John Zeune was extravagant in his office, as is charged by his Republican friends, but we do know that John was mighty busy on the job. Thus in 1914 he inspected and sealed 4,733 weights and measures, repaired 91 and condemned 402. He also inspected 3,000 berry boxes, of which number he condemned 2,000 as not being up to standard, and also inspected 1,425 milk bottles. That was a pretty good year's work, you must admit.

And now the United States Steel Company feels these Democratic times so keenly that it has announced its intention of building extensive additions to its plants about Pittsburgh.

And next we suppose that there will be a get-together meeting of local Republican statesmen to see who shall go as delegates to the next national party convention, from the Sixth district, to help along the Burton candidacy for president. Strictly in the interests of harmony we suggest the names of Charles E. Hard and Henry T. Bannon as the delegates, while the alternates can go to some other counties.

When you go into an election as a candidate the only thing to do is to be honest with yourself and the voters; tell them what they ought to know or want to know about where you stand on issues of moment, and then abide by the result. If you win be happy, if you lose be game and face the future with a smile. It all comes and goes in a life-time.

TWO MEN ARE RUN DOWN BY AUTOMOBILES

One Victim Is In Bempstead Hospital, Other Auto Mishaps

Luther M. Griffin, a well known transfer, stepped directly in front of a jitney bus driven by Clay Adams, of 1645 Officers street, just above Officers on Gallia street, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock and was seriously injured. Griffin had started across the street to pay for some oil at H. W. Jansen's gasoline depot at H. W. Jansen's office. That physician was ill and Dr. J. E. Rogers was summoned to attend the injured man, who after he was revived and his wounds dressed, was removed to Hempstead hospital in the city service wagon. It was found he had suffered the fracture of a rib, the sharp end of which had cut into the lung, producing danger of pneumonia or an abscess. He also had a bad cut above the eye, bruises on the leg and both ankles were hurt.

Adams claimed he was attracted to Griffin staggering about in the street and his wife tugging at him in an effort to hold him back to the curb. He said he tried to stop his car but it was impossible. Griffin resides at 1524 Gallia street.

Griffin was reported resting easier Monday morning, but will probably have to be put under an anesthetic to attend to the injured ankles. He has been very unfortunate in the way of accidents in recent years. A year ago a Hilltop car ran into his wagon and he was badly hurt. He brought suit for damages against the company but lost the suit.

John Goltz Was Hit By Breeze Car

John Goltz, who is employed in the First National bank was run down and painfully injured by an automobile driven by George Breeze, son of John T. Breeze.

Goltz suffered a cut across the forehead which required four stitches to close. The accident took place on Chillicothe street near Sixth when Mr. Goltz stepped off the curbing and was hit and knocked down by the Breeze car. Mr. Goltz is a son of Mr. and

"Trouble Bug" Turned Loose, 23 Arrests Made Saturday Night

SPEEDING IS CHARGED

A wave of lawlessness, which was regarded by many as an election aftermath, swept over the city and kept the police on the jump. Saturday night, they making a total of 23 arrests, a record breaking number for a single night.

There were a number of fights and a couple of raids upon disorderly houses. Probably the most serious fight occurred at Mill and Gay streets. Joe Allen was on the way home in Red Row when accosted by Will George, a plasterer. George picked up a couple of brick bats and Allen warned him that he would administer the beating of his life time if he threw them at him. George heaved the bricks and Allen waded into him, knocking him down and kicking him unmercifully. By the time police rescued George his left eye was almost knocked out of its socket and his sight will be permanently impaired. Both men were arrested.

Judge Middleton Will Be Candidate

Judge W. H. Middleton of Waverly, will be a candidate for the Republican nomination of judge of the court of appeals next year, according to a Columbus dispatch to the Cincinnati Enquirer Sunday. He will likely be opposed by Judge Edwin Sayre of Athens, now serving his first term on the bench.

Judge Middleton opposed Judge Festus Walters for the nomination two years ago, but the Circleville jurist defeated him for the nomination. At present he is one of the special counsel attached to the attorney general's office, at Columbus. He was formerly common pleas court judge in this district, and frequently held court here.

Sheriff Smith was called to the vicinity of Tick Ridge in Harrison township Sunday evening to investigate an alleged shooting affray, in which Marie Ferguson, a former Kentucky woman, whose escapades of previous years brought her unusual notoriety, is said to have figured as the gunner.

Frank Pool, a farmer of that neighborhood, complained that the Ferguson woman shot at him twice late Sunday afternoon after he had ordered her from the house. One shot just grazed his trousers, he said.

All efforts on the part of the sheriff to locate the woman were futile, and she is still at large. It is thought that she has taken refuge in her old haunts in Kentucky.

For the past several months she has been living in a hollow on Tick Ridge. During that time she frequently visited the Pool home, against the wishes of Frank Pool, the head of the house.

Mr. Pool told Sheriff Smith Sunday evening that when he and his wife returned to the house late Sunday afternoon after doing some chores about their place, they found the Ferguson woman in the house. He again remonstrated with her for coming there, and taking her by the arm, led her out of the house to the front gate. As he turned to leave her he claims that she fired twice at him at close range, one bullet just grazing his clothes. He notified the authorities at once.

COMPLETES FIRST YEAR

Rev. Bliss B. Cartwright completed his first year as pastor of the Central Presbyterian church Sunday. He came to this city from his old home in Manchester, his last charge before coming here being at Catawba, Clark county. Sunday morning's sermon was given over to communion service. In the evening Rev. Cartwright closed at his sermon, "The Broad Face." The main work to be done this year is the reorganization of the Young People's work in this church.

JOHN NEU STAGED "COME BACK"

After a separation of two years John W. Byron and John Neu are to be re-united. John Neu was one of the successful candidates for constable at the recent election, and was around Saturday morning making all arrangements to be attached to the court of Squire John W. Byron after the first of the year. He will succeed Louis H. Sailing, who threw aside the constable's office for a try at the justice of the peace.

Mr. Neu expects to leave Monday for Detroit to take a position until the first of the year.

CONGRESSIONAL UNION TAKES FAMOUS OLD CAMERON HOUSE FOR HEADQUARTERS

Cameron House and Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont.

Cameron House, sometimes called "the little White House," because so many famous people have lived there, has been rented to the Congressional Union for Equal Suffrage as its headquarters for the great suffrage rally to be held in Washington beginning the day congress convenes and lasting for a week or more. This house is just across Lafayette Square from the White House. It will be the scene of many conferences, mass meetings, and social functions during suffrage week and Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York has already arranged to hold a brilliant reception there on the evening of the day that congress convenes.

venues. Among the famous people who have lived in it are Don Cameron, a member of the Grant cabinet; Mark Hanna, and former Vice President Garrett Hobart.
